Revival of "Beu-Hur."

Next Monday evening Klaw& Erlanger's reconstructed and redecorated New York Theatre, now one of the handsomeet in the city, will reopen with this firm's colossal Drury Lane production of "Ben-Hur" as the attraction. This is the greatest dramatic spectacle ever staged in the world. More than 500 people will appear in the arens and Mount of Oilves scenes and the marvelously realistic charlot race will be presented with four charlots and sixteen horses.

Heary Woodruff, who will play."Ben-Hur," is widely known and will undoubtedly present the leading role in a most convincing interpretation of General Wallace's hero. Simonides, one of the strongest parts in the play, will be acted by J. E. Dodson, the most talented character actor in this country. He was the only player sent from America by Klaw Erlanger to appear in the Drury Lane presentation of "Ben-Hur."
